HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

The Muzinich Flexible U.S. High Yield Income Fund’s supra institutional shares produced a positive return for the year, comfortably outperforming the ICE BofA 1-5 Year BB-B US Cash Pay High Yield Constrained Index (JVC4). During the reporting period, the Fund benefitted from strong security selection as well as loss avoidance across various sectors. Fund performance was driven by disciplined sector allocation and active security selection, particularly across real estate, retail, utilities, and metals/mining. Issuer detractors were limited and largely idiosyncratic within consumer products and building materials, with active management enabling timely exits as market fundamentals weakened. We remained focused on risk management, keeping overall Fund duration short and portfolio credit quality improved through a meaningful increase in BB exposure during the second half of the year. In our view, historically tight spreads and weaker metrics for lower rated credits (relative to higher quality credits), have bolstered the argument for conservative positioning. We closed the year underweight most cyclical sectors, lower rated credits, and the riskiest cohort of the market. We reduced risk in the portfolio after taking gains on positions we had tactically added earlier in the chemicals, technology, publishing, and gaming sectors. As of December 31, 2025, the five largest sectors in the Fund by weighting were real estate, diversified financial services, energy, healthcare, and technology.
